NSU Rowing Alumnus Jennifer Moos Wins Checkpoint Tracker Adventure National Championship

Moos and Team Finished Race In 21 Hours and 19 Minutes
11/15/2010 4:34:09 PM

MOAB, UTAH – Nova Southeastern rowing alumnus Jennifer Moos was a part of a four person Coed Elite team that won the Checkpoint Tracker Adventure Racing National Championship in October.

"The alumni and the team are really proud of Jen," said head coach John Gartin. "She was an exceptionally gifted athlete when she was here rowing with the team and I know her teammates and friends are proud of her but not surprised by this accomplishment of a tremendously talented athlete."

Moos, who was graduated from NSU in 2005 as a rower, was one of the four of the Odyssey Adventure Racing-IMONPoint.org to win the twenty eight hour race that began on October, 29, 2010 in Moab, Utah. The four person Coed Elite team including Moos, Shane Hagarman, Mark Lattanzi and Charlie Roberts crossed the finish line at 5:19 am MDT after 21 hours and 19 minutes of racing across a 110-mile course. The impressive course included riverboarding, kayaking, trekking, ascending, a Tyrolean traverse, rappelling, canyoneering, orienteering and mountain biking.

For taking first place in the Coed Elite division, team Odyssey Adventure Racing-IMONPoint.org was awarded $5,000 cash, shoes from Hi-Tec, watches from Tech40, limited edition knives from SOG Knives & Tools, sunglasses from Numa Sport Optics and Terrain Navigator software from MyTopo.com.

Checkpoint Tracker Adventure Racing is the largest national competitive Adventure Racing series in the United States. It is comprised of more than 50 promoters offering over 100 events ranging from sprint length races lasting just a few hours to expeditions that run non-stop for several days.
